

DRY ELECTION IS FORECAST HERE

WATER COMPANY TURNS DOWN SALE OF LOCAL PLANT TO CITY

This from the Wall Street Journal:

For the fiscal year to end June 30, 1940, the President and his budget advisers offer a program which contemplates that the government shall spend three and a third billions more than the revenue coming to it. Only twice since post-war deficit spending began with the year's gap between income and outgo have been wider, in the current twelve month and in that to June 30, 1936. A bare outline of the Treasury ledger of the past nine years reads as follows, in millions:

	Receipts	Expend.	Deficit
1940 Estimated	$5,669	$8,995	$3,326
1939 Estimated	5,520	9,492	3,972
1938 Actual	6,242	7,620	1,384
1937 Actual	5,294	8,442	3,148
1936 Actual	4,116	8,656	4,550
1935 Actual	3,890	7,010	3,210
1934 Actual	3,116	6,011	2,895
1933 Actual	2,080	3,864	1,784
1932 Actual	2,006	4,535	2,529

But the expenditures and the deficit estimated for 1939 have been raised to the above figures by inclusion in the former of an $875,000,000 supplementary WPA appropriation now requested of Congress for use between February 1 and June 30, next, an amount almost certainly in excess of real need and one to which Congress has not yet assented. If supplementary WPA appropriations become a habit we shall have another year hence, in which case the projected 1940 deficit of $3,326,000,000 could easily become $4,000,000,000. The expenditures and deficit of 1936 were affected by the inclusion in that year's accounts of roughly 1½ billions of the prepayment of World War veterans' adjusted compensation certificates.

Judging from the latest budget figures, we are making no progress toward control of federal expenditure and haven't even the will to make any. To make the dark prospect a little darker, President Roosevelt urges that new and additional taxation of roundly $500,000,000 a year be laid to cover rising requirements of the national defense and handsomer "parity" payments to farmers.

Now, who was it who, only six short years ago, spoke the following words?

"Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors, because they are a burden on production and are paid through production. If those taxes are excessive, they are reflected in idle factories, in tax-sold farms and in hordes of hungry people, tramping the streets and seeking jobs in vain."

Pythians Here Lead State in New Memberships

Cameron Knights of Pythias, according to J. M. McLean, Keeper of Records and Seal, are setting a fast pace in Texas for the enlistment of new members and the Lodge leads Texas in proportion to local population.

In a report received yesterday by Mr. McLean the Knights of Pythias Lodge of Corpus Christi has received 78 new members for the last term while Milam Lodge was second in Texas with 70 new members.

Bryant Station school turned out for a full holiday Tuesday in order that the pupils and teachers might attend the W. Lee O'Daniel inauguration at Austin. Miss Lois Randolph, one of the teachers, spent the day here with her mother, Mrs. Tom Randolph.

The Community Public Service Company, owners of the Cameron water works system with offices in Fort Worth, in a report to the city government, has declined to sell its properties in Cameron for $171,614.00 as authorized by recent bond issue.

The company in declining to sell its property in Cameron wrote a letter to Mayor Charles C. Smith merely stating it was unwilling to consider this figure for the plant. When the Council met on Tuesday night the matter was discussed informally but no action was taken.

It was said here Thursday that the Council has in mind the employment of counsel with the possible view of co-operation with the bond buyers to institute suit for possession of the property. No action of this nature has been taken and no counsel has been employed but due to the fact that the only step that remains to be taken by the Council is to enter suit to enforce a provision of the franchise which gives the city the option to own the plant when it so elects, it was generally regarded here that the city must proceed along this line or abandon its plans for ownership of the utilities.

Twice during the past two years the people have voted bond issues to purchase the water plant. In both instances the amount involved was inadequate. In an editorial in the Cameron Herald prior to the last bond issue, it was pointed out that the company would not sell its property for the amount called for in the bond issue election. Now that the company has declined to sell at that figure, the Council could go ahead and order another bond election to raise the amount of the offer, however there is nothing certain that an amount thus designated would meet the desires of the utility company which through all the negotiations and agitation has remained steadfastly with its original position, that its properties in Cameron are not for sale.

Incentive to Protest Lost, Farms Get Low Cotton Quotas

Milam County's loss of incentive to protest was taking a heavy toll of farm income on the production of cotton.

The heavy majority given the government farm program in Milam Co. at the last two elections is believed to be responsible for the discrimination against the county in the matter of acreage allotments for cotton. An interesting bit of information has just reached the desk of the Herald editor, handed in by a prominent Milam county farmer and shows the following percentage of cultivated acres allotted to cotton in three Texas counties:

Nueces county	49%
Robertson county	48%
Milam county	35%

It is known that cotton farmers in Nueces county have protested severe reduction of their cotton acreage and it was from this county that litigation arose last year attacking the validity of the cotton control act. It is generally believed that the authorities seek in every way possible to hold farmers in line by placating when protests arise. If this be true, as was pointed out here this week, Milam county farmers are being badly discriminated against and are paying a heavy penalty for co-operating with the administration.

The cotton quota for 1939 will remain unchanged from the figures of 1938 and while other counties will have the privilege of planting from 13 to 14 per cent more than Milam county, there is no way open to increase the Milam county crop, so long as farmers accept the quota allotments without protest.

Other of the magazine characters also reach the screen. Iris Meredith is seen as Nita Van Sloan, lovely fiancée of the debonair Richard Wentworth, who is actually the Spider. Richard Fiske, a new Columbia discovery, is seen as Jackson, Wentworth's aide, and Kenneth Duncan is

CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK ELECT OFFICERS

Stockholders of the Citizens National Bank held their annual meeting on January 10. All owners of stock in the bank were present.

The Citizens National Bank is owned entirely by Cameron people and with few exceptions the stockholders at the present time are those who originally incorporated the bank. Descendants of those pioneers who organized the bank 38 years ago have succeeded in large part to a majority interest in the institution. The bank has an unusual record of growth and service to its patrons and many changes have occurred in the personnel. The bank has promoted to larger fields of banking an unusual number of capable men who for the most part entered the bank when they were young and earned their promotions.

The Board of Directors elected on January 10, is as follows: Rush A. Thomas, W. O. Newton, Frank Monroe, Niley Smith and Oxsheer Smith. All the officers were re-elected for the coming year and are as follows: Oxsheer Smith, president; W. O. Newton, Frank Monroe and Niley Smith, vice presidents; Lester Williams, cashier; and Ladis Marek and Alvin Nolte, assistant cashiers. The remaining personnel of the bank retained their former positions, which includes Sam McDermott, manager of real estate and outside man for the bank, John Davis and Bud Chamberlain, bookkeepers, Misses Doll Herstmann, Pauline Starnes and Mary McDermott secretaries.

IN THE SADDLE

When Jerry Sadler was campaigning for Railroad Commissioner last summer he told the folks that what he needed to run the office would be a buggy whip, a ten-cent baseball bat and a can of snuff. Sadler is shown here with these articles. The picture was made in Austin during his first week in office.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH SUPPER

Plans are being developed at this time by the congregation of the First Christian Church for the completion of their building which now consists of a basement and one story.

The congregation announced a chili supper to be held at the church on Tuesday, January 24, from 6 to 10 p. m., the proceeds to go to the building fund. The public is cordially invited to attend and patronize this supper.

Camp is Found Ineligible for City Attorneyship

The city government on Tuesday night failed for a second time to get a city attorney when it was found that Emory B. Camp, whose appointment was submitted to the Council by Mayor Charles C. Smith, is not a resident of the city and therefore could not qualify for the place.

A previous attempt by the Council to appoint Bill Morrison city attorney, was found to be illegal and not authorized by the constitution of the state of Texas which expressly prohibits a man holding two offices of profit and trust at the same time.

Mr. Camp who recently retired from the office of criminal district attorney, has established law offices in Cameron in partnership with his father, Emory A. Camp of Rockdale, and his appointment as city attorney was regarded as a happy solution of the vacancy now existing in the official family of the city. Regret was expressed that the law does not permit the appointment of Mr. Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Schiller attended the inaugural ceremonies in Austin Tuesday and visited with their son S. O. Jr., who is a student in State University.

COURT MUST CALL IF PETITION IS LEGAL ONE

A prohibition election for Milam county will soon be called by the commissioners' court, it was believed here Thursday after the court on Monday had voted to postpone final consideration of a petition signed by 578 qualified voters.

A public hearing on the petition was held Monday at which time a number of citizens representing both points of view on the liquor question appeared before the judge and commissioners. The law requires the court to call an election when confronted with a petition of the number of required qualified voters. The court does not believe that public sentiment demands the election but has little option in the matter.

Citizens who oppose a prohibition election asked the court to canvass the petition to ascertain whether all who signed were qualified voters and if the petition represents the required number. The court will accordingly convene on Tuesday, Jan. 24, at which time it will finally act upon the petition.

If the election is called it will likely be held sometime during the month of February or March. It will be the first county-wide effort of the dry forces to re-establish prohibition since repeal. Milam county voted to permit the sale of wines, beer and liquors in 1934. There have been several local option elections but no county-wide elections to prohibit the sale of liquors.

A large per cent of revenue collected for old age pensions in Texas is obtained through a tax on beer, wines and liquors. From each dollar collected by the national government eleven cents is represented by taxes on liquors and tobaccos.

Citizens who oppose prohibition expressed themselves as hopeful that the county will not return to widespread racketeering and crime that grew up in the wake of the eighteenth amendment and they point out that it is impossible to prohibit sale, distribution, and use of liquor in dry territories and if prohibition is voted the cities, the county, the state and the nation will lose the revenue and no appreciable progress will have been made to stamp out the use of alcoholic drinks.

GAUSE RESIDENT BURIED TUESDAY

Funeral services for Floyd Ferguson, resident of Gause, were held on Tuesday, January 17, from the Gause Baptist Church, with Rev. Crawford, pastor, officiating.

He was the son of Mrs. Mattie Ditto, who for many years was a resident of Cameron and conducted the Springer hotel which is at this time the Milam hotel.

Pipe Collecting is Hobby of Cameron Cafe Owner

By MARIE FORD

The origin of the pipe is generally accredited to the American Indian whose pipe smoking was an indication of friendship and good fellowship. American history has made famous the story of William Penn "smoking the pipe of peace" with the Indians. Many types of crudely fashioned pipes were found in the prehistoric mounds of Mexico, Peru and United States. The Indians used a forked cane, the lower end of which served as a bowl to hold the dried tobacco leaves.

Sir Walter Raleigh was instrumental in popularizing the use of the pipe in Europe though Francisco Hernandez de Toledo introduced pipes and incidentally the use of tobacco to European civilization, rather than Raleigh, who is generally given this credit.

There are pipes of various sizes, shape, materials and colors, and one of the most valuable collections of this type in the country belongs to Fred Jackson of Cameron, who has been collecting them as a hobby over a period of many years.

Mr. Jackson says all pipes are valuable to him and the fascination that made him keep and treasure every pipe he could obtain and his refusal to dispose of any, has grown until he now has approximately three hundred varieties of antique and modern pipes valued at over a thousand dollars.

Among his collection is a pipe owned by Mr. Carl Fahrendorf, father of Fritz Fahrendorf, which was brought from Germany. Another prized pipe is one formerly owned and used by Mr. H. C. Ledbetter, a

His Life Story

Reproduced from
The Dallas News

One reason why Texas can become a great, prosperous, industrialized state is because the people have already learned to co-operate. The chambers of commerce are a good example of what I mean. It was my privilege to be the president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce several years ago, and I have been interested in this work since I first came to Fort Worth. Your local chamber of commerce is a meeting ground for all classes in the community and teaches the first lessons in civic progress.

No town or city lives to itself, but each is tied in closely with the prosperity or poverty of its neighbors. This fact was long ago recognized in the organization of such fine groups as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, the South Texas Chamber of Commerce and similar groups.

The same kind of co-operation and unselfish pooling of community resources are to be found in the fairs—big and little—from which Texas and surrounding states are famous. Such outstanding expositions as the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show and the State Fair of Texas at Dallas will occur to everyone in this connection. During our years on the radio, we have received hundreds of invitations to participate in these expositions, and it has been our pleasure to respond whenever possible. This work has extended beyond even Texas, and the Hillbilly Boys and I have traveled as far as Elk City, Okla., to do our part in making a success of the Western Oklahoma State Fair. The officers and directors, incidentally, of that fine organization unanimously elected us as official entertainers one year.

Broadcast From Dallas.

Another famous regional exposition is the big South Texas State Fair at Beaumont. During Texas Centennial year the Hillbilly Boys and I journeyed to Dallas where we had a part in the magnificent celebration of 100 years of freedom in that beautiful Centennial Exposition. We broadcast from the grounds. It seemed to me then, and it seems to me now that some of the real heroes of Texas are the businessmen who do not always get full credit for their part in upbuilding our state. I said at Dallas:

The spotlight of the nation is now on Dallas' Texas Centennial Exposition. Thousands and thousands of autos and trains, busses and airplanes have brought folks to Dallas to visit the great exposition here. These visitors marvel at the sights and return to their homes to tell all their friends not to fail to visit the Centennial. And thus more and more come to see a world's fair—more startling, more dazzling, more cultured, and more educational than any previous world's fair.

All Dallas citizens should feel proud of the honor thus bestowed upon her. But back of all the glamour, back of all the bright lights, and back of the big celebration itself with its outstanding success, there stands the bulwark, the foundation, that thing which made the Centennial celebration possible. Nobody has sung, or is singing, praise of those who constitute that foundation. I refer to the businessmen and the business institutions of Dallas who went down into their pockets and put up the stupendous sums necessary to insure this great exposition. I could single out firm after firm. Has anybody sung their praises? Are they on the front pages of the newspapers, on the air or on the screen? No, my friends, they are just a group of honest, conscientious businessmen working hard each day trying to make enough profit to pay their expenses and to contribute their share toward making Dallas great.

Some Dallas-Fort Worth Fun.

The exposition at Dallas was a serious, worth-while educational and patriotic endeavor. But it also provided much entertainment for those who visited it. On our program from the exposition grounds we tried to do our part in providing a little fun. The so-called rivalry between Dallas and Fort Worth is a never-failing source of amusement, and I had this to say:

I expect some of you folks in Dallas may be wondering why an old-president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce is up here in this crowd singing the praises of Dallas. Well, it is not because Dallas has a new pretty Centennial hat and such a girlish figure this year. We in Fort Worth have always had a friendly feeling for Dallas. We realize Ft. Worth has made her greatest gains by extending our city limits and taking in suburbs. We have our eye on Dallas as soon as we take in Handley, Arlington and Grand Prairie. We just want you to be a great big girl when we adopt you. We know all the time we could lead you unless you got Amon Carter away from us. If Dallas had Amon Carter, New York would be clearing its bank checks here in Texas inside of six months. We might also have a new national Capitol building out there on Chalk Hill, and the rest of the Roosevelt family might soon be living down here. Now wouldn't that just be dandy? See America first. Visit the national Capitol in the beautiful sister cities of Dallas and Fort Worth.

And I wrote a special humorous song which told of the Hillbilly Boys at the exposition. Here are two verses:

Hey lookie at the deacon
In the Streets of Paris sneaking;
When Maria catches him, oh me, oh my!
From the church he'll be resigning.
Ailmony papers signing,
He's lost his home on earth and up on high.

Dallas, Centennial Center,
Dallas, the Queen of the West
Dallas, Southwest's largest city,
Congenial with all of the rest,
Dallas, where strangers are welcome

No matter how rich or how poor;
Dallas, Ciudad Manana

Dallas, 'til time is no more.

The Business of Farming

This old bank has for almost a half century been the friend of farming and farmers. As we begin the new year 1939 its policy remains unchanged. It looks forward to opportunities for serving the farmers in the new year. There is something about farming and the agricultural interests of this country that challenges the imagination of leadership and finance and the resources of this great bank are at the disposal of all worthy agricultural pursuits.

Miss Rose Rischar was a charming hostess to the members of the Delphian Chapter Tuesday afternoon from three to five o'clock, at her attractive home on West Main Street. Mrs. Henry Hefley, president of the chapter, presided. Subject of the study was "Church and State" given by Mrs. Dow Eplen. Mrs. E. A. Flinn discussed "Mary Eddy Baker"; Mrs. Clarence Freeman, "Amy Semple McPherson"; and Mrs. William Freeman talked on "Ann Hutchinson." Following the program the hostess was assisted by Mrs. Niley Smith in serving a delectable salad plate. Next meeting will be February 7th at the home of Mrs. La Bertice Robinson.

Featuring a pretty Valentine motif throughout the reception rooms and in all appointments, Mrs. S. A. Cottle was hostess to the Tuesday Bridge Club, at the reception rooms of the Milam Hotel. Score and tally pads carried out the chosen feature and made tables attractive for the guests who enjoyed a series of games, closing with Mrs. C. G. Brindley winning highest score; Mrs. R. B. Stedman was winner for the second highest and Mrs. Leland Denson captured third highest, all of whom received lovely flower pots in red; and Mrs. Ernest Coffield made low and was presented with a dainty finger linen towel in red. The hostesses regaled her guests with a dainty salad plate with hot tea.

The attractive home of Mrs. W. E. Gaither was the scene of the gathering of the members, and a few invited guests, of "The Bridge Club" when Mrs. Gaither entertained with a bridge luncheon at one o'clock. Following the games highest score was won by Mrs. Oxsheer Smith for club members and Mrs. H. F. Smith, Jr., highest for guests, both receiving attractive gifts.

A miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Delfin Schiller, the former Miss Ardy Fuchs, given at the home of Mrs. John Matyastik of Clarkson on Friday night, January 13, was well attended by friends of Mrs. Schiller. Guests registered in a hand made guest book fashioned by the hostess. A number of interesting games were played with prizes going to the winner and in turn being presented to the bride. Mrs. Arnold Runnel, Mrs. Minnie Sager and Mrs. Harold Fuchs of Buckholts were the lucky winners of the different contests. Mrs. Schiller was the recipient of many lovely gifts for which she thanked each friend personally. She became the bride of Delfin Schiller of the Vogelsang community on Dec. 29, at the Lutheran church of Buckholts. A delicious refreshment plate of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served to friends from Vogelsang, Buckholts and Clarkson. Their many friends wish for Mr. and Mrs. Schiller a long and happy wedded life.

Man Who Knew Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker to Write Story for Herald

W. O. Ellis of Belton, key maker and locksmith, was in Cameron Thursday to see the Bonnie Parker and Clyde Barrow death car.

Mr. Ellis says he rode in this car with Bonnie Parker about five days before she was killed with the outlaw, Clyde Barrow by peace officers near Monroe, La.

Mr. Ellis said that Bonnie Parker came to Belton and requested him to make repairs on a small .38 caliber revolver which she carried five days before they were slain.

Mr. Ellis has been asked to give a story on his experience with the Barrows but thus far has declined to do so. On Thursday he told the Herald that he would give this story within the next few weeks for publication exclusively in the Cameron Herald.

Ointment Named in Bible Is Extracted from Shrub Native to United States

America shares with the Holy Land the small plant from which comes the oil that recalls to mind events of 19 centuries ago, when the glories of the first Christmas eve were revealed to shepherds on Bethlehem's hills.

From this plant, which abounds in Minnesota's north woods and other places in the United States, is taken spikenard, highly-perfumed ointment referred to in the King James version of the Bible as used to anoint the feet of Jesus.

So this small, unassuming plant played a small part in events which gave us Christmas, most cheerful holiday of nations.

No Religious Test Required
Article VII of the Constitution of the United States declares explicitly that "no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States." No one whose duty it is to administer an oath of office has any authority to inquire into the religious ideas of an elective officer or an appointee. This constitutional provision is not binding upon the states, however, and some constitutions and laws, notably in the South, require a state officer to affirm a belief in a supreme being.

Powder Magazine a Chapel
For many generations a French-Canadian regiment has garrisoned the $35,000,000 citadel on the heights above Quebec City. The ancient powder magazine is used as a chapel. In the officers' mess is a small brass cannon captured by British troops at Bunker Hill. Wolfe's troops captured this citadel and control of Canada—by defeating the French under Montcalm in 1759.

FRENCHMAN TELLS STRANGE STORY OF WAR EXPERIENCE

Prisoner, Freed by Kaiser to Visit Home in France, Returns to Germany.

Paris.—One of the strange stories of the World War has just come out of the Perpignan district, in the south of France.

It's about Andre-Pierre Cales, a stocky grocer of Belves, who in 1916 obtained leave of absence from a German prison camp, visited his native village in France and then returned to Germany as a captive for the duration of the war.

Incredible as the story may seem, M. Cales has documentary evidence to prove his story. On the wall of his store is the framed permit of the German authorities, signed by the kaiser, permitting him to leave Germany for eight days on condition that he return to the prison camp.

Captured by Germans.

In 1914 Cales was assigned to the one hundred ninth infantry. He fought with his regiment through the first battle of the Marne. But on February 12, 1915, he was wounded at Suippes and was captured when the rest of his company fell back in temporary retreat. He was sent to a military hospital at Spire and later was interned at Wurzburg in Bavaria.

Early next year Private Cales received a letter from his wife, mailed from their home in Belves. She told him his father was dying, that daily his father wondered why he was not at the bedside. She urged him to do everything in his power to persuade the German authorities to permit him to come home, even if it were for only a few days.

Cales tried. It looked hopeless. Then the commander of the prison camp informed him that the kaiser had granted permission. That same night, February 23, 1916, he boarded a train for Switzerland.

Keeps the Faith.

So extraordinary was the situation that the French authorities did not believe him at first. In the end they let him into France, guarded by an officer, but they questioned him so long that he only had three days at home.

When he reached Belves, his wife, in mourning, greeted him at the door. His father had died the week before.

During the three days at home Cales was the wonder of the village. Cales and the bodyguard that followed him wherever he went. Why, he was asked, should he keep the agreement and return to Germany? Cales replied that was the bargain, and three days later he boarded a train for Switzerland, and more than half of his former friends thought there was something wrong with him.

Cales went back to the prison camp. In 1919 he was freed. Once again he took the train to Belves.

He says today that he has not left Belves since—and never intends to.

Brakeman Dies Sticking to Wild Train in Wreck

Copperhill, Tenn. — Few heroes about to defy death will ask whether posterity will remember them. Nor did a forty-two-year-old brakeman on a copper mine railway here.

Clarence Howard was aboard a five car freight train when the cars broke away from the engine. He could have leaped safely to the ground, but stuck with his train to forestall what he knew would be a certain wreck unless he applied the hand brakes. Crawford applied those brakes. But too late. There was a crash. He was wedged between two telescoped cars.

Fellow workers could not pull him out. Crawford told them so. He told them to wait for acetylene torches to burn away the twisted steel that compressed his pain wracked body. When the torches arrived Crawford coolly directed the men cutting through the steel.

At the end of three hours Crawford lost consciousness. For five hours more far into dark, his rescuers worked to free him. They succeeded, but Crawford was dead—a hero.

"Party Driving" Helps in More Ways Than One

Denver.—University students' ingenuity has created a new method of earning money to defray expenses. The latest wrinkle is "party driving."

The "party drivers" guarantee sober driving for students on parties. Denver police have started to arrest several drivers of late whose cars were filled with singing, shouting college students, only to be checked by the explanation: "I'm a party driver."

Kicks Against Fate Over Third Girl; Cuts Foot

New York.—Pete Tsaconas, twenty-seven years old, was hoping all along that finally his wife would have a son, and when she had a daughter, making it three in a row, he was so angry he walked right up to a store in Brooklyn and kicked in the glass. His foot swathed in bandages, he limped before Magistrate Mark Rudich in Flatbush court, who reproved him for kicking against fate.

It is bold, hardy, yet of remarkably gentle nature and is noted for long life.

The Washington Stage

BY
OUR CONGRESSMAN

Dear Friends:

The House has just passed the emergency relief bill providing an additional $725,000,000 to carry on WPA work until the beginning of the next fiscal year (July 1, 1939.) Last year we attempted to make provision for the WPA work for the full fiscal year. That organization seemed to get along all right and to have plenty of money until just after the election, but early in November they began to lay off workers. In our section, although many needy farmers had been certified as eligible as required by law, this retrenchment made it impossible to ever give them work. This was not the fault of the local officials at Waco and Austin. It was due to orders from the WPA headquarters at Washington. Since Christmas it has become evident that all WPA funds will be exhausted early next month. We all realize that there is still a pressing need for work relief. On the other hand, we also recognize that unless we actually begin to reduce expenses it will not be long before the Government ceases to be able to aid anyone. We, therefore, want a program that will give work to the needy with the least possible expenditure of funds.

The president recommends a special appropriation of $875,000,000. This would mean an expenditure of approximately $6,000,000 per day. The Appropriations Committee cut the appropriation to $725,000,000, which means about $5,000,000 per day, or about a 16 per cent reduction from the amount for which the WPA officials asked. I think $5,000,000 per day will provide work for all of the needy if properly administered, and if improperly administered, twice that much would not give the needed relief. I, therefore, voted for the $725,000,000 figure. This is much more than many members felt proper, and much less than others claimed was needed.

I also joined in trying to get some amendments on this bill to give us a more equitable distribution of the money, and to require its expenditure in more constructive ways. I think that the difference that exists between the wages paid WPA in the North and in the South is outrageous. I voted for an amendment that would have prohibited more than a 25 per cent difference. This amendment was passed by a close vote. I believe it will go a long way toward correcting the unfair advantage many Northern states have long enjoyed. I also prepared and introduced an amendment to require WPA to furnish the labor for soil conservation projects where sponsored by the Soil Conservation Service and where local agencies agreed to furnish the machinery and materials necessary. This amendment was defeated. Had it been adopted, WPA could have done the same kind of soil conserving work that is now done by CCC camps. I hope we may get this provision in the regular bill for next year, and have assurances of support from a large number of members.

If this bill is passed by the Senate in the form it passed the House it will assure our unemployed that work relief will go on until next July 1st. At the same time it will show the Nation that Congress means to hold appropriations down and not to simply accept and rubber-stamp every request of the departments.

Last night, Mrs. Poage and I attended the President's reception. This is the one occasion each year for which I dress up in all of the accoutrements prescribed by the social masters. This reception is attended by cabinet officers, etc., as well as the Members of Congress. It is true that the guests simply line up and file past the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, shake hands with them, and then pass on to the dining room where they drink a cup of very different punch and eat a small piece of cake, then mill around with the crowd, or if you dance (I can't) take a turn or two in the ball room. Still, there is a thrill to it all just to know that you are in the White House and that you are seeing and meeting the people who actually administer the government of the United States of America. There are lots of people here who have become cynical and who say that nothing ever thrills them, but I have lived in small communities long enough that I don't think I will ever cease to thrill at meeting the President, or for that matter, at seeing the White House or the Capitol. I hope I don't.

I have just been advised by a member of the Ways and Means Committee that I have been elected to membership on the Committee on Flood Control. This is not a major committee, but I asked for membership there on because I hope that as a member I can be of more help to our own flood control program in the Brazos, Bosque and Little River valleys.

Odd Fellows Observe Birthday of Founder

Cameron Odd Fellows will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, January 26, to honor the birthday of Thomas Willey, founder of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows Lodge. Special ceremonies will pay tribute to Mr. Willey who organized the first Odd Fellows Lodge in the United States on April 26, 1819.

Having joined an Odd Fellows Lodge in London when a young man, he naturally missed this fraternal association when he came to America; so as a result of an advertisement inserted in a Baltimore newspaper, he and a small band of four organized the first lodge in America, which today has grown into an order that now has 1,500,000 members.

Today the Odd Fellows Lodge maintains 64 homes for widows, orphans and needy members and pays $4,000,000 annually in sick and death benefits.

Sam Singh, Wentworth's Hindu chauffeur. Donald Douglas is seen as the butler Jenkins and Forbes Murray is cast as the police official Kirk.

Only one major figure goes unnamed. He is the Octopus, an arch king of crime, unknown even to his closest lieutenants, whose identity is guarded until the last chapter.

As the story opens trains are being wrecked, terminals dynamited, lives destroyed. A mysterious hand threatens the nation's existence. Some greedy monster seeks to destroy all major industry. Big business, thrown into pandemonium, demands action on the part of the police, whereupon Kirk appeals to his friend Wentworth. As the Spider, Wentworth bears down on his ancient foe, the underworld, and especially the Octopus.

Hull, as noted, plays Wentworth and the Spider. In addition he contributes another characterization. As readers will recall, Wentworth sometimes disguises himself as Blinkey McKuade, that he may pass unnoticed in underworld haunts.

In addition to the players named, Marc Lawrence, Dick Curtis, Ann Doran, Charles Wilson, Eddie Fetherston, Beatrice Blinn and Lester Dorr enact important roles. Robert E. Kent, George Plympton, Basil Dickey and Martie Ramson wrote the serial's screenplay, and Ray Taylor and James Horne co-directed.

Pipes

prominent citizen of this section, who was invariably associated with his pipe and who took this one which is hand carved, with him on numerous trips to the big cattle markets of the east.

An especially interesting specimen is the Turkish water pipe. When smoking this pipe, the smoke is first drawn through a bowl of water and cooled before it is inhaled. This type is the largest size in Mr. Jackson's collection, though there are pipes of larger dimensions. He has two of these specimens, one of which was presented to him by J. B. White, editor and publisher of the Cameron Herald.

The selection includes pipes from Czechoslovakia, France, England, Turkey, Ireland, Germany and other European countries besides every kind of modern pipe made and used in America. They are fashioned from the best grades of Briar, exquisite China, cherry wood, amber, and Meerschaum.

An interesting and beautiful Meerschaum pipe recently acquired by Mr. Jackson has an ivory colored bowl and a stem of clear green. He said the entire pipe was originally white, and the bowl was slightly colored from use. The continued use of pipes gradually turns the color and if used over a long period of time, they will become a dark brown.

An Irish pipe, presented to Mr. Jackson by Father T. F. O'Sullivan, who made a recent visit to his home land, is hand carved with the Irish emblem and the famed shamrocks.

There are twenty English pipes in this collection. The wood from which these are made was aged twenty-five years before any attempt was made to make a pipe. England is one of the most popular countries for pipe smoking and their pipes are made of the best Briar.

One of the oldest pipes in this collection has a small peg made on to the bowl of the pipe to be used in holding it securely while in use. Mr. Jackson bought this one from a rare old shop. Some of his collection has been the gift of friends and many of them were bought from antique collectors who could not use pipes in their collection.

Some of these pipes are more than eighty-five years old, said Mr. Jackson, whose collection is at his home in Cameron and has not yet been placed on display for the public. He plans shortly to arrange these pipes into an attractive exhibit and show them in a number of cities in Texas.

Mr. Jackson said that the Finck Cigar Company would underwrite the cost of the exhibit and carry the display to these centers. Not only does Mr. Jackson get a big thrill out of collecting pipes, he enjoys a daily smoke himself.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Truth" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 22.

The Golden Text is: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deuteronomy 32:3, 4.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: I will sing unto thee among the nations. For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds" (Psalms 57:9, 10.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Morals try to believe without understanding Truth; yet God is Truth" (page 312.)

... thanks to Syrup of Black-Draught.

When your child is less keen and lively than usual, it may be a warning of constipation. If so, try Syrup of Black-Draught. It's pleasant to taste, and there's nothing in it that can harm a child's delicate intestinal system when given according to the directions.
